JOCKEY CLUB STEWARDS STILL UNDECIDED AS TO DATES.

Report That James Butler Will Be Asked to Cut Loose From Western Combination-Poolroom Men in High Feather -Attell Dodges Battle With Moran

Although the stewards of the Jockey Club held a long session at the Windsor Arcade yesterday to discuss the allotment of racing dates for this year no definite conclusion was reached and nothing was given out for publication in that connection. It was said, however, that the Empire City track would receive fair treatment, but whether the Yonkers people would get a meeting in August or a spring and a fall meeting could not be learned. It was also said that the message of Gov. Hughes relating to the repeal of the Percy-Gray law was a subject for much discussion, but as usual there was nothing official for the public. The stewards were unanimous in the opinion that not one dollar should be spent to secure favorable legislation at Albany, which has always been the policy of the Jockey Club. Incidentally it was explained that a statement from Al-bany to the effect that all of the racing asons and the Jockey Club contributed the sum of $22,000 last year to secure favorable named was merely a report by the associaas to the Secretary of State, in accordance with the provisions of the law, showing that the above sum was paid to the Jockey Club's numerous attorneys who made argu meats in behalf of the turf before the various legislative committees. A man who is in touch with the inside workings of the Jockey Club said in reference to the Empire City

"Mr. Butler will do well to cut away from the Western element which financed his maeting last year. He will get dates and 'Ill not need the assistance of this well known combination. The Jockey Club does not care for a Western invasion of the turf in the State of New York and if Mr. Butler can his way clear to eliminate this element in the management of the Yonkers track he will do much toward restoring a general feeling of harmony among the powers that be. Mr. Butler has not made a formal application for dates, but he will be well taken care of; but as I understand it he must first agree to keep the Western combination out.

"New York will be a jay hawk town if these reformers continue to have their own way, said a leading sporting man yesterday. "We can't see a good boxing bout any more. There Sunday baseball. The Sunday shows in the theatres are hanging by a thread and now they want to kill horseracing. By and by a man who wants to bet that he is alive stand a chance of going to jail.

The poolroom men, headed by Peter De Lacy and "The" Allen, are in high feather just now. They say that their long fight against the racetracks will be successful with the assistance of Gov. Hughes. If the drooms were permitted to run wide open De Lacy and Allen would doubtless be heartily in favor of a continuance of the Percy-Gray The fact that the Jocky Club, by means of a vigorous crusade, succeeded in putting the poolrooms completely out of business last year is conclusive evidence that the present attitude of the poolroom men has been prompted by malice pure and simple. The popularity of racing under Jockey Club rule was clearly demonstrated last year when 50,000 persons, actual count, attended the races at Belmont Park on Decoration Day. It is safe to assume therefore that there are at least 50,000 persons in New York city to-day who are not in sympathy with the present crusade against the turf in this

Officials of the Jockey Club said yesterday that the state of the forfeit list as published in the Racing Calendar is decidedly satisfactory. The list shows a total indebtedness of $17,000 in a total of $2,500,000 raced for on the Eastern tracks in 1907. This is less than three-quarters of 1 per cent. on the above total. Before the Jockey Club's system of collecting forfeits was perfected hung over at different times and much of i remained uncollected.

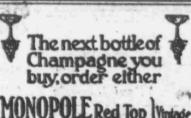

The season of 1908 in Kentucky will probably be curtailed to 100 days or even less. The plan is for Latonia to take about fortyfive days, thirty-one in the spring and fourteen in the fail. Louisville will get about thirtyfive days, twenty-one in the spring and fourteen in the fall, while Lexington will have ten days in the spring and the same number in the fall. As Western racing this years will be practically confined to Kentucky it can be readily appreciated how eager Western horsemen are to race

The noted steeplechase jockey Ernest Piggott, who has been riding with much success in France, will not appear in England again but will come to America to ride this year for C. Pfizer, who was the racing partner of Col. R. Neville in 1906 when they raced Herouloid, Dick Roberts, Welbourne and others. Piggott is said to be one of the best riders over the jumps in Europe.

In trying to make another match with Abe Attell, Owen Moran says that the weight must be 122 pounds three hours before entering the must scale at 120 pounds two and a half hours before the battle. which governed their meeting on New Year's Day. Moran sets forth as an argument that 122 pounds is the recognized featherweight limit in both America and England and that Attell as champion should agree to this condition without a quibble. In declining the proposition 'Attell places himself in the light of attempting to secure an unfair advantage. He evidently believes that Moran would be much more formidable at 122 pounds three hours before the fight, for the reason that the Englishman had much difficulty in getting down to 120 ands last Wednesday. If Attell continues to backtup, Moran declares that he will make match with Bettling Nelson at 128 pounds. Nelson weighed only 131 pounds the other without training, so that Moran thinks the Dane Zoould, easily make 128. Harvey, Moran's manager, writes that the Englishman had a pronounced advantage in his fight with Attell and that if another mill of longer duration is arranged Moran will win to a certainty. . Meanwhile Attell is talking of making another match with Frankie Neil, who was recently stopped by Moran in sixteen rounds. Judging from the present controversy Attell does not care for another mixup with the sturdy little Briton.

Hugo Kelly and Bill Papke have signed articles for a twenty round fight at 13s pounds to be decided within the next sixty days. It is believed that James Coffroth, the promoter of battles at Colma, Cal., will hang up a good sized purse for this interesting Having given up all hope of securing Roger Bresnahan to manage the Cincinnati Reds this year. Garry Herrmann is now trying his best to secure Tommy Leach from the Pittsburg club. Leach, who is wintering in Cincinnati, says he is anxious to handle Herrmann's team and that he is tired of the Smoky City. Barney Dreyfuse, the owner of the Pittsburg club, who has never be-Heved in strengthening rival clubs upless be is financially interested in them, does not care to turn Leach over to Cincinnati, and that means that unless Herrmann offers to put up a big bundle of cash there will be nothing doing. Herrmann, according to competent critics, made a serious mistake when he did not secure George Stallings to manage his team. Stallings would have been an excellent substitute for Ned Hanlon and was willing to take a chance with the Porktown hammer throwers. But Herr-mann listened to the friendly tip offered by Dreyfuss, and Stallings was turned down. It is surmised that Barney feared that Stallings would make good. It is said that at the last moment Herrmann begged Hanlon to remain in charge of the team, but that the latter said he did not care to mix up further with the many self-apponted managers in the Cincinnati grand stand.

GOOD CROWD FOR SOCIETY DAY

DOUBLED ADMISSION SEEMED TO HELP SALON ATTENDANCE.

Town Car Types and High Powered Runabouts or Road Racers Most Favored by Purchasers-Visitor From Nome Nays He Will Take a Machine to Alaska.

Such a number of well known men and women visited the Importers Automobile Salon in Madison Square Garden yesterday that the day was a "society" day in fact as well as in name, and the display of splendidly fitted up cars outside the building was one of the greatest that has ever been witness In the afternoon the number of automobiles and horse drawn carriages that brough visitors to the Garden was so great that the services of several members of the traffic squad were required to preserve order in

The visitors were in a buying mood too. the purchases mostly being of two classes of cars, either the low powered town car type or the very high powered runabout or road racer. While the ever popular limousine has kept a good deal of its popularity at the salon, the majority of the buyers who have made purchases at the show have stipu-lated landaulet, coachwork on the enclosed body cars they have bought, even when they have arranged that the cars should not be delivered until the warmer months. An American car dealer who visited the show yesterday remarked that the importers had the right idea in showing so many machines with landaulet bodies, as buyers undoubtedly want this type of coachwork at the present

The doubled admission price which was put in force yesterday and last night in honor of Friday being the second "society day" of the show really seemed to have the effect of increasing the attendance, which was the result hoped for by the members of the show committee when they decided to have the two days for "Society" on Tuesday and Friday. The "dollar day" experiment has worked out very well for shows of American cars and the importers are very much in favor of the idea, as they realize that great favor of the idea, as they realize that great crowds of visitors would not be likely to contain as many prospective buyers of cars as the smaller and more exclusive numbers of visitors who have attended the exclusive foreign car shows.

One of the most interesting visitors at the show yesterday was Alfred H. Dunham of Nome City, Alaska. He is a pioneer of that town, having lived there for ten years. He voiced his approval of the cars displayed and the beauty of the decorations in no uncertain terms and in very picturesque language. He admitted that the show surpassed anything they had had at Nome so far but declared they were doing great things up in Alaska. He said he would take an automobile back to Alaska with him and prophesied that the boys up there would make some very lurid remarks when they caught sight of it.

Crescent A. C. Team Defeats Vale in Last Practice Game. The Crescent Athletic Club hockey team played against Yale's team in the St. Nicholas skating rink last night and won by a score of 8 goals to 1. This score was partly due to Referse Marcus not being quite strict enough on offside play and the weakness of Trudeau, the Yale goal. Later in the game Trudeau did better work. Liffiton started off with rush and scored the first goal from the Crescents in 15 seconds. Five minutes later Crescents in 15 seconds. Five minutes later Shirreff scored and in another five minutes Liffiton made the third goal. Then Fells scored for Yale and toward the close of the half Liffiton made his third goal and the half ended 4 to 1 in favor of Crescent.

With Some Protection the Seals Will Come Back Again-Lecture Delivered at the Sportsmen's Show-Clem Meets an Old Friend-Quall as Tame as Chickens.

The Sportsmen's Show in the Grand Central Palace closes to-day. Many persons who attended the show yesterday were wondering if the Forest, Fish and Game Society of America, which promoted the show and whose members have to shoulder the financial loss, would go on with the work they had begun and have another show next year. It was learned that the members are very much encouraged by the way in which a real sportsmen's show arranged by sportsmen for sports-men has been appreciated by the public and that there is no doubt that the show which has just finished its first appearance in New York will become an annual fixture. The attendance yesterday was again very good and what has pleased the management very much is the fact that many have made several visits to the palace. This show has been practically free from trade exhibits, which mar so many of the shows given in The promoters did not want trade to enter into the show more than could be helped and limited trade exhibitors to very small space and to only three or four that would w purely sporting goods: consequently it has had to rely on the daily attendance.

The expenses have been very heavy. instance of this is shown in the silver fox which has been on exhibition but which never attracted much attention. This fox cost $1,000. He certainly did not pay for himself. While the attendance has been very good it has not nearly made up the money spent in getting the attractions yesterday the deer suddenly charged the doe and fawn and had gored them slightly, when a couple of attendants succeeded in dragging him out. It took some time to quiet him, and then he was placed in a log cabin until a partition had been built in his quarters.

Clem, the black bear, was made happy by the arrival of an employee of his owner. Arthur Robinson, with whom he has lived since babyhood. The man crawled into the pen and immediately Clem raised himself on his hind legs, put his two front paws on the shoulders of his friend and licked his face. When the man left the enclosure the bear got mad and showed his disapproval by tearing out a couple of planks that separate his pen from the next attraction.

The quail raised in captivity by Prof. C. H. Hodge of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., have surprised the visitors by the manner in which they have stood two weeks at the show. Those who did not understand how carefully these birds had been raised by Prof. Hodge were sceptical as to the powers of endurance of the Bob White under such conditions. Instead of showing any signs of lassitude at the end of the two weeks they are in better condition than when placed in strange surroundings. They have become the special pets of Manager R. E. Follett and small crowds gather several times a day while Mr. Follett engages one or the other of them in what is apparently a conversation and feeds them from his hand with pieces of apple.

Mr. Townsend illustrated his lecture with sixty very fine views of the seals at home. He said:

"The history of the world's seal fisheries is largely one of wasted resources. Very few sealing industries have been conducted according to methods caiculated to perpetuate the race. From a commercial point of view seals are the most important of the carnivorous animals. As a group they are probably also the most abundant of the larger wild mammals at the present time. It is doubtful if the herds of the bison in America and of the antelope in Africa ever exceeded them in point of numbers. They are of world wide distribution. Their pursuit has been carried on in the Antarctic as well as in the Arctic, but the sealing grounds of the Antarctic regions have long been exhausted commercially. Although the fur seal fisheries of the North Pacific have received much international consideration during recent years they are not the only seal fisheries of importance.

"The various species of Antarctic fur seals were found about the southern shores and islands of South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and the islands of the Antarctic generally. There are few parts of the world were seals of some species do not occur.

"All seals breed on land or ice floes and return after their migrations to their accustomed breeding places with great persistence. They can seldom be driven entirely away, stupidly lingering until brought near to the point of extermination. So certain are seals of returning to their breeding grounds that

They can seldom be driven entirely away, stupidly lingering until brought near to the point of extermination. So certain are seals of returning to their breeding grounds that the reestablishment of the different species soon follows the protection of these places. The safeguarding of depleted scaling grounds would in fact be a good business proposition even at this late day if they could be protected under authority of the various Governments laying claim to such lands.

The safeguarding of depleted sealing grounds would in fact be a good business proposition even at this late day if they could be protected under authority of the various Governments laying claim to such lands.

"The only important strongholds of the diminishing northern fur seals remaining to-day are the Pribiof and Commander Islands in Bering Sea. The United States and Russian Governments, to which these islands belong respectively, have for many years endeavored to save from ruin the seal fisheries connected with them. The species established on the Commander Islands is the Callorhinus ursinus, while that breeding on the Pribilofs is Callorhinus alascanus. Although these two species breed upon islands lying in the same latitude and less than a though these two species breed upon islands lying in the same latitude and less than a though these two species breed upon islands lying in the same latitude and less than a though these found in great multitudes. For many years they were killed indiscriminately, but the Russian Government finally took charge of them and directed the fisheries in such a way that they were regularly productive. The Pribilof Islands for twenty years after the accession of Alaska yielded to the United States Government in taxes on sealskins alone more than $7,000,000 the price paid for the entire Territory of Alaska. About twenty years ago the practice of pelagic sealing, the killing of seals in the open sea, developed into an extensive industry, since which time the supply of seals has steadily decreased.

"Under Government supervision a certain number of seals on the islands is selected for killing. Fur seals are highly polygamous, Every adult male takes possession of from one dozen to 100 females, which results in a large surplus of males, and this surplus amounts to 100,000 a year on the Pribilofs and over 35,000 on the Commanders.

AMONG THE AUTOMOBILISTS

RUNOFF NECESSARY IN QUAKER CITY ENDURANCE RUN.

H. K. Sheridan, White, and Frank Yerger, Studebaker, Tied With Clean Scores in Touring Car Class-C. J. Trumbull. Packard, Wins in Runabout Division

The two days endurance run of the Quaker City Motor Club from Philadelphi to Alientown and return proved of so strenu ous a nature that but two cars were left perfect scores out of the twenty-eight that started in the touring car class. These were H. K. Sheridan's White and Frank Yerger's Studebaker. Sheridan, who won the Hower individual prize for runabout drivers in the 1907 Glidden tour, was very wrathy when told that the contest committee of the Quake City Motor Club had placed Yerger's car in the perfect score division, as it had previousl been penalized by the technical committee because one of its shock absorbers was broken The contest committee would not reced from its position and ordered Sheridan and Yerger to run off the tie over the same course covered on New Year's Day and the day following under the same rules and schedul as that of the original contest.

C. J. Trumbull was declared the winne in Class B, for runabouts, in which he com-peted with a 30 horse-power Packard. Dar Webster, who drove a Frayer-Miller, wor the popularity prize in the go as you please division, receiving fourteen votes. Roy P Spear, Packard, was second with twelve votes Spear, Packard, was second with twelve votes.

The officials of the Automobile Club of Schenectady, N. Y., have begun the work of erecting signboards at the intersections of roads in the vincinity of that city, in which task they have the aid of the farmers thereabouts. The organization is also working up interest in road improvement and has accomplished a good deal in this line since its formation last June. Officers for 1908 were recently elected as follows: President, C. H. Benedict: vice-president, Gerardus Smith: secretary, A. F. Knight: treasurer, J. W. Yelverton. The board of governors elected consists of the four officers and H. S. De Forest, G. H. Hill, W. D. Loucks, N. I. Schermerborn and H. G. Chatain. A good roads committee was named with the following members: H. S. De Forest, George H. Close, H. Earl Furman, F. R. Champion and Edward F. Peck.

It is common knowledge among real mechanics that the nuts and boits of the various "standards" are by no means interchangeable. Yet the average garage repairman often refuses to recognize the fact. A V nut can be forced on a United States standard boit, for instance, and will usually hold, But the reverse is not the case, nor should the approximate metric sizes ever be used on English nuts or boits. To prevent confusion in this respect close supervision is required in every shop where there is occasion to handle more than one set of standard sizes.

The competition committee of the Automobile Club of France has decided to again hold the Coupe de la Presse event next season, the first week of August being the time selected. The contest will be run under practically the same rules as governed the 1907 event, except that the weight limit has been raises from 1,650 kilos to 1,750 kilos, or 3,857 pounds. The contest is to be of about 400 kilometers, or 248 miles, and is run on a gasolene allowance of 19 liters per 100 kilometers, or about 15 miles to a gallon.

A mixture of soapsuds, petroleum and water has been sprinkled on the roads of Boston's park system and according to reports very satisfactory results have been obtained. The road surfaces treated with this mixture required less sprinkling with this mixture required less sprinkling with water than the ones which had not been treated. By combining the oil with soapsuds and water it can be applied without annoyance to users of the roads; in fact, the mixture seemed to help the oil to penetrate into the road instead of remaining on the surface. Cottonseed oil soap, Texas petroleum and water were used. The asphalt in the Texas oil binds the road surface and lessens the cost of repairs.

In his speech at the banquet held to celebrate the opening of the Berlin automobile show. Prince Henry took occasion to rebuke reckless drivers, to whom he applied the term "wild and untamed motorists." He commented favorably on the development of the industry and regretted that the sympathies of the masses had not kept pace with the development. "As you probably are aware," he added, "this must be partly put down to the account of the so-called wild drivers—the wild chauffeurs—against whom perhaps, one cannot be sufficiently warned; but partly, gentlemen, to our dear daily papers, which, with a few honorable exceptions, never let slip an opportunity of serving up for their readers the most horrible accidents with the morning coffee." The Prince then proceeded to discuss the touring contest which bears his name, and stated that he had proposed it, first, because the Herkomer tour would not be run in Germany in 1908; and, secondly, because he wished to give the German industry another opportunity to demonstrate the excellence of its productions. He also informed his hearers that they need have no fear concerning the prospective motor liability act, as they could look forward to it with complete calm and confidence.

GALA TIME FOR SQUADRON A. Col. H. L. Scott Reviews the Cavalry and Presents Long Service Medals.

Squadron A. Cavalry, National Guard, New York, had a gala time last night at the Armory, Ninety-fourth street and Madison avenue, over a squadron drill and review by ol. H. L. Scott, United States Army, The ceremony was supplemented by a stirring programme of troop drills and other equestrian exercises.

After the souadron dismount there was a special feature—the presentation of medals o the long service men. Col. Scott made an appropriate speech before placing the medals on the men's chests, and as each one was decorated he got a reception from the big crowd present.

There was one fifteen year man and he was Capt. Herbert Barry. These were eight ten year men-Lieut. Robert C. Law-rence, Adjutant; Lieut. George E. Fahys, Quartermaster: First Sergt. George O: Red ington, Sergt. Edward M. Cary, Sergt. William H. L. Edwards, Sergt. John J. Kelly, Sergt. Philip T. Stillman and Sergt. Alfred sergt. Philip T. Stillman and Sergt. Alfred W. Booraem. The older brigade of New York A. C. men doubtless remember Sergt. Cary, as he was a strong sweepman in the first eight oared crew that trained at Travers Island. Nearly a generation has slipped by since then, yet the ex-oarsman looked no worse for wear last night. Sergt. Phil Stillman threw the hammer at Yate in the early '90s and he too looked as husky as when he walloped holes into the Yate Field with the 16 pound missile.

The squadron mounted drill was commanded by Major Bridgman. On account of there not being floor space enough each of the four troops of sixty men had to be reduced. Troop 2, commanded by Capt. Judson, gave a mounted exercise and drill, and Troop 1 performed similarly, commanded by Capt. Townsend. The making and breaking camp with dog tents took the fancy of the spectators and was ably contributed by Troop 4, Capt. Phelps being in command. The night's sport wound up with mounted exercise and drill, Capt. Barry having command. AUTOMORILES

POLY TEAM WINS.

Institute Boys Take Wesleyan Into Camp in Lively Basketball Game. The Polytechnic Institute basketball team surprised the followers of the sport by de-feating Wesleyan at the Poly gymnasium last night. The game was won by the narrow margin of one point, the final score being

The game was very fast and rough, so much so at times that it resembled a football match. Lathrop of Poly played against Capt. White of Wesleyan at centre and the pair were continually penalized for rough play. Taylor, who was capta n of the Wesleyan football team last fall, also did some rough work, and put Referee Morel out of action for a time by accidentally running into him. The result of the game was uncertain until the whistle blew.

This is the second time this season that poly has defeated a big collegiate team. Poly beat Pennsylvania two weeks ago by a score of 26 to 25.

Without resuming play Jacques Mieses, the German chess master, resigned the second game of his series with Charles Jaffe, the New York expert, at Café Commercial yesterday afternoon. The position had been adjourned after fifty moves, at which time Jaffe had a pawn plus with two bishops opposed to two knights. Mieses recognized the hopelessness of the situation and abandoned the game, thereby giving Jaffe the victory in the series. AUTUMN AND WINTER RESORTS. NEW JERSES.
